

Journal of Consciousness Studies

controversies in science & the humanities

Vol. 12, No. 6, June 2005

SPECIAL ISSUE: SHELDRAKE AND HIS CRITICS
The Sense Of Being Glared At

Edited by Anthony Freeman

2 List of Contributors

EDITORIAL INTRODUCTION

4 The Sense of Being Glared At:
What Is It Like to be a Heretic? Anthony Freeman

TARGET PAPERS

10 The Sense of Being Stared At
Part 1: Is it Real or Illusory? Rupert Sheldrake

32 The Sense of Being Stared At
Part 2: Its Implications for Theories of Vision Rupert Sheldrake

OPEN PEER REVIEW

50 Staring at the Back Of Someone's Head Is No Signal,
And a Sense of Being Stared At Is No Sense Anthony P. Atkinson

56 Nomenclature and Methodology Ian S. Baker

64 Confusion Worse Confounded Susan Blackmore

66 The Sense of Being Stared At:
Fictional, Physical, Perceptual, or Attentional/Intentional? William Braud

71 Detection of Staring — Psi or Statistical Artifact? Jean E. Burns

76 Does Scopesthesia Imply Extramission? R.H.S. Carpenter

78 The Sense of Being Stared At:
Its Relevance to the Physics of Consciousness Chris Clarke

82 The Ambiguity of 'In Here/Out There' Talk:
In What Sense Is Perception 'Out in the World'? Ralph Ellis

88 Rupert Sheldrake and the Staring Effect David Fontana

92 A Closer Look at Sheldrake's Treatment of Rattee's Data Christopher C. French

95 The Sense of Being Stared At: A Preliminary Meta-Analysis Dean Radin

101 The Discourse of Controversial Science:
The Sceptic-Proponent Debate on Remote Staring Marilyn Schlitz

105 Comments on Sheldrake's 'The Sense of Being Stared At' Stefan Schmidt

109 Are We Out of Our Minds? Max Velmans

AUTHOR'S RESPONSE

117 The Non-Visual Detection of Staring
Response to Commentators Rupert Sheldrake